EUDAEMONIA REHAB CENTER

LOCATION: GREENBELT, MARYLAND

The Eudaemonia Rehabilitation Center is an in-patient substance abuse rehabilitation center that is designed to serve as an alternative to incarceration for low-level, non-violent, drug-related crimes. It is located just outside of Washington D.C. due to its high rates of addiction & drug related crime. This center provides comprehensive care and support for all users. The interior is designed to support physical, mental, & emotional healing. The goal of this project is to reduce levels of mass incarceration and offer those struggling with addiction proper support to be able to overcome it. This space promotes healing and personal growth while providing a sense of security and support for the patients.
